

HYGIENE

Nurturing healthy smiles

Keeping up with your dental health

The ultimate deep-clean feeling. A trip to the dental hygienist will help to safeguard your teeth and gums.

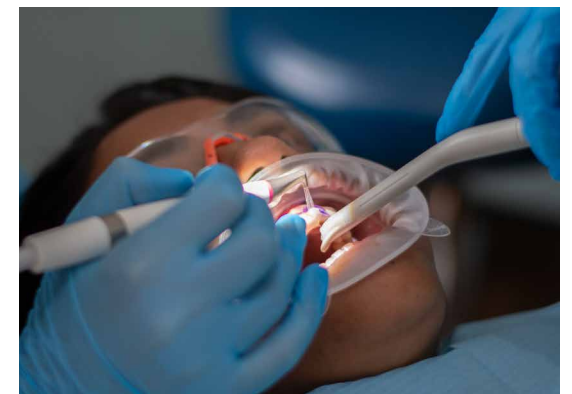

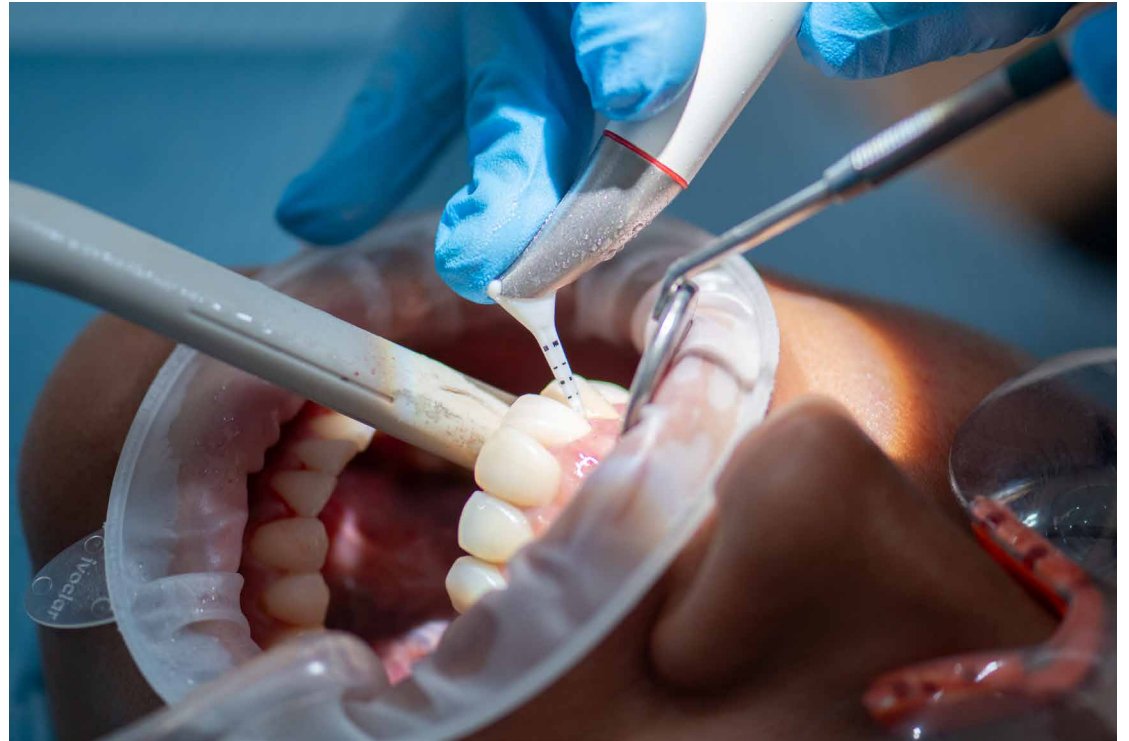

Our dental hygiene team is here to help you take care of your oral health. Visit the hygienist every 3-6 months to avoid plaque and tartar build-up and take control of gum disease. Maintaining good oral hygiene helps prevent gum disease and ensures the longevity of your dental restorations.

What is a dental hygienist/therapist?

Dental hygienists are professionals who work to minimise, prevent, and treat gum disease through various specialised techniques. As well as working directly with patients, dental hygienists may also carry out preventive or educational programs in schools and community groups.

Why visit the dental hygienist/therapist?

Visiting your dental hygienist/therapist is important because it helps to minimise the risk of common dental health problems such as gum disease and tooth decay. You'll enjoy a deep cleaning that removes surface staining and leaves your mouth feeling fresh and clean. Also, if you suffer from staining or bad breath, a dental hygienist deep cleaning can help.

Had an appointment with Gina and Sam this morning. It was the first time I had met Gina. She has a lovely manner and explained everything to me as she was going along. This team is very professional, and I felt comfortable and confident in the treatment I received.

I highly recommend this dental practice. I hadn't been to a dentist for years and Gina, who is the hygienist was so calming, reassuring and gentle. I have never liked going to the dentist, but Gina has now changed how I feel. They are such nice people.
